

Before Bluegrass, There Was Old-Time String Band Music!

And an important part of it started right here in Calhoun and Gordon County, Georgia. The music still attracts a following, folks who travel around the South to hear it, play it, dance it, and talk about it. In 2018, Rep. John Meadows successfully sponsored a resolution to the Georgia Assembly designating our String Band Festival as the Official String Band Festival of Georgia.

14th Annual Georgia String Band Festival

March 25 & 26, 2022

This year's festival will feature Georgia Roots, Alive! An Evening Of Essential American Roots Music Nine of our Finest Americana Musicians Reveal the Paths That Made America Best.

The festival's concerts and contests hark back to the 1920s, when the Gordon County Fiddlers' Convention drew thousands to hear the day's best-known folk musicians. Don't miss a chance to be a part of this annual gathering. Your sponsorship will promote our home town across the South and help the festival keep on growing.
